Dorman Farrell Charity Golf Benefits Bluecoats

Partners Dino Sciulli and Mark Dorman, left, present $5,000 check to Michael Marquard, Bluecoats president.

Bluecoats was the recipient of a $5,000 check from the annual Dorman Farrell Charity Golf Outing. Deemed "awesome," the June 21 event was a smash, with 31 foursomes at Medina Country Club. Leaders of Bluecoats expressed gratitude, following so close to the first outing in 2008, which benefited the organization.

The energy, spontaneous fellowship and fine presentation of the event were especially recognized. In addition, Dorman Farrell's detailed follow-up with Cheryl Murray and children were noted. They are the family of lost officer--Sharon Volunteer Firefighter/EMS Jeffrey Murray in 2007. His was the first line of duty death since Bluecoats was founded in 2003.

You're Invited: Centuries-Old Red Mass September 29

The Seventh Annual Medina County Ecumenical Red Mass, invoking the blessings of God upon our courts and legal system, will be offered on Wednesday, September 29, 2010, at 7:00 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 317 East Liberty Street, Medina, Ohio.

The church has sponsored the Red Mass since its resurrection here in 2003. Bluecoats is the recipient of all funds received as offerings at the service. The Rev. George R. Baum, vicar of St. Patrick's Episcopal Church, Brunswick, will preside.

The Red Mass originated in 13th century England, first in the Catholic Church, then the Anglican. Celebrants wear red vestments and robes of brilliant scarlet. Pastor Jeff Steele-Steeber of Living Word Lutheran Church, Medina Township, will preach. Continuing the tradition, St. Paul's Rector, the Rev. C. Eric Funston is administering the total program. Following the service, the Episcopal Church Women of St. Paul's will host a reception for all attending.

The congregation of St. Paul's welcomes the judges, lawyers, safety forces personnel and all residents of our county to this service of blessing our courts and legal system.

You may bring prospective members to Annual Meeting as our guests.
